

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

IAGLR Appoints New J. of Great Lakes Research Editor and Assistant Editor!

Ann Arbor, MI, Feb. 6, 2012

The International Association for Great Lakes Research is proud to announce Dr. Robert Hecky and Dr. Stephanie Guildford as Editor and Assistant Editor; respectively, of the J. of Great Lakes Research (JGLR). Drs. Hecky and Guildford are currently Professors in the Department of Biology and the Large Lakes Observatory at the University of Minnesota-Duluth. They bring a wealth of knowledge and experience into their new editorial roles with the JGLR. Drs. Hecky and Guildford have strengths in research and studies in large lakes of the world. They have conducted research and published on great lakes both in North America and in Africa, and have been affiliated with excellent research institutions in both Canada and the United States. Consequently, they have built up an extensive network of colleagues with interests in large lakes not only in North America but globally. IAGLR looks forward to their stewardship and leadership of our proud and excellent journal.

As of January 2012, Dr. Marlene Evans' term as Editor of the JGLR will come to a close. However, Dr. Evans will be actively involved in editorial issues during the transition period to the journal's new editors. IAGLR thanks Dr. Evans for her many years of outstanding service and dedication, and wishes her success in her future professional endeavors.

The International Association for Great Lakes Research (IAGLR) is a scientific organization made up of researchers studying the Laurentian Great Lakes, other large lakes of the world, and their watersheds, as well as those with an interest in such research. IAGLR members encompass all scientific disciplines with a common interest in the management of large lake ecosystems on many levels. Specifically, IAGLR promotes and disseminates research through the Journal of Great Lakes Research, a highly respected professional publication with broad distribution; and annual Conference on Great Lakes Research.
